

Starting from the election of Huta Bolon Village as a Tourism Village in early 2005 in Pangururan Regency, North Sumatra, Indonesia. So, the Central Government of North Sumatera determined the location of the White Sand Beach of Parbaba Samosir as the place to implement Lake Toba Eco Tourism Sport (LTETS).

Along with the implementation of the Lake Toba Eco Tourism Sport (LTETS) in the city of Pangururan, as well as the Inauguration Day of the White Sand Beach of Parbaba as a tourist attraction in Samosir Regency, on 18 May 2006.

In 2007, the Government of Samosir Regency participated in the construction and development of the White Sand Beach of Parbaba Samosir tourist attraction. The government has begun to build several facilities to make it fit as a tourist destination, such as the construction of bathing boundaries and several play facilities for visitors.

Based on the initiative from the Samosir Regency Government to develop Tourism in Samosir Regency, in March 2014, the Samosir Regency Government inaugurated the White Sand Beach Situngkir as a tourist attraction in Samosir Regency and joined the White Sand Beach of Parbaba.

Based on the initiative from the Samosir Regency Government to develop Tourism in Samosir Regency, in March 2014, the Samosir Regency Government inaugurated the White Sand Beach Situngkir as a tourist attraction in Samosir Regency and joined the White Sand Beach of Parbaba.

