

Cultural values that stand out in people's relationships with others in the Boru Naitang Tree area in the city of Pangururan are people who always help each other, are tolerant, like to forgive, love reciprocation, obedience, and loyalty. A prominent form is that nature provides the necessities of life for people, which is reflected in the folklore about Boru Naitang. The people around this tourist attraction want to live peacefully in a harmonious community.

Hariara (Baringin) in the Boru Naitang Tree area in the city of Pangururan depicts a large tree that has meaning in people's lives in the town of Pangururan, perfecting the ecosystem of the universe created by God. The Baringin tree in this tourist spot is a large and robust tree species. For the Batak tribe, the Baringin tree has a role in people's lives in the city of Pangururan because it is one of the indicators in determining the feasibility of land to be used as a residence or settlement. The Hariara tree at the Naitang Boru Tree tourist attraction is sacred as a place to communicate with God (Mulajadi). At certain times people put various offerings or food especially served in the Toba Batak ritual.

