

The future of the architecture of Kampung Huta Raja is a culture that is seen through visual arts, and the state of the building speaks for itself about a time and place that longs for eternity.

The architecture in Huta Raja Village is a cultural product designed for him. When you look at the traditional architecture in this village, you have to look at the Toba Batak culture and its relationship to the nature of Lake Toba. You can truly live in close, harmonious contact with nature - this situation is unique in the city of Pangururan, Indonesia.

It looks like this ulos cloth can be used as material for my costume.
